Thanks, Alice. This was a great trip! Thank you for arranging it for us. Really sorry some people had to cancel as you work so hard to get these wonderful trips for us.

Here are a few of my photos...

Bald Eagle - What the heck is this!

Get away from my food you Black Vultures!

Wilson's Snipe

Nine-banded Armadillo - count them!

Limpkin - he was making a quiet clicking-like sound rather than his typical loud, haunting sound.

They've caught people in this incoming water - if they only knew what was in it - YUK!

Not a good photo - but it was beautiful to watch this "dance."

"Tastes like chicken!" One lucky Florida Red-bellied Cooter

Blue-gray Gnatcatcher - these little guys are really hard to photograph - they are never are still

Blue-headed Vireo

American Kestrel

Red-bellied Woodpecker - I see you in there!!

As Little Red Riding Hood would say - "My, what big teeth you have!"

I think I see my reflection in his eye - YIKES!

Sandhill Crane - this guy or gal was purring like a cat - looked it up, they make soft purrs to communicate with their family...two-part purr before flight...a slow purr while they are feeding.

Black Skimmer - not a good photo. We were surprised to see one here; however, I looked it up - we were only 18 miles from the East Coast.

The brown cow - you had to be with us to appreciate this
